NOVA (Northern Virginia) Christian Counseling

The approach at Northern Virginia Christian Counseling integrates what the Bible says about WHO we are with what psychology tells about WHY we behave, feel, and do what we do. If we believe that God is the author of all truth, we can use both God's word and God's works (i.e., psychology) to help us heal, grow, and overcome any obstacle in our path. Because it says in Philippians 4:13: "I can do ALL things through Christ Jesus who strengthens me."

RUAH WOODS, Psychological Services- 513-407-8878

Location: 6675 Wesselman Road • Cincinnati, Ohio 45248

<https://www.rwpsych.org/psychotherapy/>

Ruah Woods offers psychological services and evaluations. Their work is to journey with people experiencing a variety of emotional, behavioral, psychological, and interpersonal difficulties. Drawing on solid professional training integrating faith and science, the practice employs established psychological methods infused with a Catholic vision of the human person. We provide psychotherapy to children and families in order to address problems and to strengthen parent-child bonds. The initial consultation is aimed at clearly understanding the difficulty – whether it be behavioral, social, emotional, academic, or spiritual – and recommending an appropriate course of treatment. Services include comprehensive psychological evaluations and group counseling (especially good for adolescents too). Although located in Ohio, Ruah Woods provides on-line services.

Evaluation Centers for IQ Testing and Psychoeducational Assessments

The people and organizations listed below offer educational testing. Seton does not endorse a particular center or individual. These names are provided to assist you in arranging testing for your child. Each individual or organization sets its own fees.

Ages 6-15 will typically be given the Wechsler Intelligence Scale for Children, Fifth Edition (WISC-V).

Ages 16 years or older will typically be given the Wechsler Adult Intelligence Scale, Fourth Edition (WAIS-IV).

Each test takes approximately 1.5 to 2 hours to administer.

PSYCHOEDUCATIONAL ASSESSMENT

As a parent, you may be wondering why your child is having a hard time in school, why learning does not seem to be coming easily to your child, and/or why your child is struggling to reach their potential. Or maybe a doctor or teacher suggested that you get an evaluation for your child.

In these kinds of situations (and many others), a psychoeducational evaluation which includes an IQ test, may be the answer. Psychoeducational evaluations offer explanations for your child's struggles and provide recommendations for specific interventions and/or accommodations to meet your child's needs.

What are the goals of psychoeducational testing?

- To obtain information about your child's learning style and academic strengths and weaknesses
- To assess for Attention-Deficit/Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD / ADD) and/or executive functioning deficits
- To test for learning disabilities, such as Reading Disorder/Dyslexia, Disorder of Written Expression/Dysgraphia, Visual-Motor Integration Disorder, Nonverbal Learning Disability, Math Disorder and Auditory Processing Disorder
- To document the need for accommodations in school or on standardized tests
- To document eligibility for an Individualized Education Plan (IEP) or 504 Plan
- To develop individualized recommendations to promote academic success
- To explain behaviors such as inattention, poor organization, hyperactivity, low motivation, homework struggles, impulsivity, or low frustration tolerance
- To understand poor school performance and/or academic decline
